

Campbell-Stone

By Bob Turner, Convener

The Campbell-Stone Denominational Group met at 5:30 pm on Friday, June 15 in Cosmopolitan B of the Hyatt Regency in Indianapolis, Indiana.

The librarians in attendance were Anthony Elia of Bridwell Library at Southern Methodist University (former Library Director at Christian Theological Seminary), Dolores Yilibuw of Boswell Library at Lexington Theological Seminary, and Sheila Owen and Bob Turner of Graves Memorial Library at Harding School of Theology. The group gave institutional updates. Many of the updates were similar in nature, reflecting on the changing roles that libraries play on campus, adaptation to new technologies, and ways that libraries are helping institutions combat declining enrollment trends.

Turner and Elia shared brief reflections on Wednesday's pre-conference session on the Pedagogy of the Archive. That session reflected on the work of other Stone-Campbell librarians and archivists, so it was relevant to this group.

After the meeting, the group dined together at Napolese.
